

Streets feel created by plants, trees, long garden walls and house fronts, brightly painted with the wonderful colors of the Zulia region. There are walls, so front gardens which create streets are partly hidden, but open enough to give life in the street.

Houses have an internal patio around which all rooms are built; beyond the patio there is a mysterious opening into the garden. Gardens are large, with banana and mango trees...

